

GREENCASTLE MAN IS VICTIM OF BOLD ROBBER

J. ED. NEWGENT, A FORMER PUTNAM COUNTY RESIDENT, BUT NOW RESIDING IN MARION, IS MINUS A GOLD WATCH, ABOUT $9 IN MONEY AND SEVERAL VALUABLE ARTICLES OF CLOTHING AS RESULT OF THIEF ENTERING HIS ROOM DURING HIS ABSENCE.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT $50

Mr. Newgent, who was the victim of a thief, is well known to Greencastle and Putnam county people, having lived here several years ago with his mother, Mrs. John Newgent, on their farm in Clinton township. He is also a cousin of Warren Newgent of this city. In commenting on the robbery the Marion Leader-Tribune prints the following article:

J. E. Newgent, an employee of the MacBeth-Evans glass factory and who rooms at the home of J. M. Perry, 1519 South Washington street, was the victim of a smooth thief Monday afternoon, who went through the trunk in his room and besides securing between $8 and $9 in money carried away a gold watch, pair of gold cuff buttons, silk shirt, two silk ties and two pairs of silk socks. Mr. Newgent values his lost possessions at more than $50. The loss was reported to the police.

Monday while Mr. Newgent was at his work a young man applied at the Perry home for a room, and having a spare one it was rented to him. He claimed to know Mr. Newgent and this gave him good standing with the aged Mr. and Mrs. Powers, as Mr. Newgent has been with them for some time and enjoys their fullest confidence.

A short time later the new roomer went away and never did return. Mr. Newgent discovered his loss when he returned home, the new roomer having unlocked his trunk with a key he probably obtained on his trip down town after he had sized things up in the upstairs rooms of the Perry home. Mr. Newgent, while feeling the loss keenly, is more desirous of exposing this method for the protection of the public than recounting his own loss.

Mr. Newgent came here from Greencastle, where in his boyhood days he was a chum of Rev. E. L. Day. He also knew Archie Price when the latter clerked in a store in Greencastle.

DEATH COMES TO PIONEER RESIDENT FRIDAY AFTERNOON

The death of Mrs. Sarah Jones, age 80, wife of the late George Jones, who died several years ago, occurred Friday afternoon at near 3 o'clock at the home of her son, Alvah Jones, west of Cloverdale. Death was due to general debility. Mrs. Jones was one of the aged pioneer residents of Putnam county, having come here from England a good many years ago. She had resided on the farm ever since coming to this county. The funeral will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock from the Putnamville M. E. church. Rev. T. J. Nixon of Cloverdale will have charge of the services.

MISS DEVANEY RESIGNS AS INSTRUCTOR IN THIRD WARD

Miss Ethel Devaney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Devaney, who reside west of this city, has handed in her resignation to the school board as teacher of the second and third grades in the Third Ward. Miss Devaney will go to Funnyside, Wash., where she has accepted a position as teacher of the second grade in the grade schools. The school board has secured Miss Ola Scott, formerly principal of the Fox Ridge school, to fill the vacancy made by Miss Devaney. Miss Devaney has taught in the Greencastle school two years, proving an able and well-liked instructor.

E. A. BROWNING ACCEPTS POSITION IN CENTRAL NATIONAL BANK

E. A. Browning, who sold his grocery store to J. F. Bailey of Anderson, Monday of this week, has accepted a position as assistant cashier of the Central National Bank. Mr. Browning will fill the place made vacant by Halstead Selby, who recently resigned from the bank to accept a position as salesman for the bond department of the Fletcher American Company of Indianapolis.

Mr. Browning is well adapted to bank business, as he was assistant cashier of the Central National Bank from 1904 to 1905. Before becoming assistant cashier in 1904 Mr. Browning was deputy treasurer of Putnam county for four years.

Because of his wide acquaintance with Putnam county people as the result of his county, bank and grocery business, he is a valuable man to the Central National Bank. Mr. Browning will take up his new position October 1. Mr. and Mrs. Browning will take a vacation until October 1.

PEACE PACT TO BE REPORTED IN WEEK

FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE DECIDES TO SPEED UP CONSIDERATION OF DOCUMENT—DEMOCRATS CONFIDENT THAT SENATE AS A WHOLE WILL VOTE DOWN THE PROPOSED CHANGES.

AMENDMENTS ARE PLANNED

Washington, August 23.—Speeding consideration of the peace treaty in the hope of reporting it to the Senate before the end of next week, the foreign relations committee changed its plans for a public hearing today, and prepared to dispose of proposed amendments and reservations as rapidly as possible.

Except for a hearing of the Egyptian case Monday, the committee plans to work on the treaty without interruption until next Friday and members on both sides predict that by that time a report will be ready.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders predict that the committee will adopt several amendments to the body of the treaty, but the Democrats assert that all of them will be voted down in the Senate.

Big Shantung Opposition. Among the proposals which it is thought may be decided on shortly is one to strike out entirely the provision giving the Japanese control in Shantung province, China. On this amendment both sides expect to develop the greatest strength on the Senate floor.

Other amendments proposed cover a wide range. Senator Fall, Republican, New Mexico, wishes to have no American representation on the various reconstruction commissions dealing with European matters. Senator Knox (Republican), Pennsylvania, proposes that the peace terms and the league of nations covenant be separate and the latter reserved for later consideration. Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, would defeat the league covenant entirely by simply striking it out of the treaty. Amendments also are to be offered to the economic and labor sections.

Once in the Senate the treaty is expected to be under debate for weeks before final action, and committee members pointed out that a supplemental report might be filed should it be warranted by any hearings held after committee action has been taken.

Albert Leutke, Harry Leutke and Brevort Baker, who is here the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Will Wetz, motored to "The Shades" this afternoon.

Miss Dorothy Dodson delightfully entertained a number of her friends Friday evening at her home on East Washington street.

Miss Rose Joslin, of Evansville, who is visiting her sister, who lives near Fillmore is in Greencastle today on business.

The End of a Perfect Day

WORKED WITH RED CROSS OVER THERE

MISS WILSON, A GRADUATE OF DEPAUW, NOW INSTRUCTOR IN THE BROOKLYN SCHOOLS, NEW YORK, HAS HAD WONDERFUL WAR EXPERIENCE—WAS CLOSE TO FIRING LINE IN TOUL SECTOR.

VISITING MOTHER HERE

To work for sixteen months with the Red Cross on foreign soil during the great war is the experience of Miss Ellen Hope Wilson, a graduate of DePauw University in the class of 1901, and daughter of Mrs. J. W. Wilson, who resides on East Anderson street. Miss Wilson is visiting her mother before returning to her work as supervisor of physical culture, hygiene and recreation in the Brooklyn public schools, New York. Miss Wilson has had a wonderful sixteen months' work—an experience she would not take the world for. While in Europe she was in France, Italy and Germany. In speaking of the arrival of President Wilson in Paris, Miss Wilson said: "The arrival of President Wilson seemed to have brought sunshine to Paris. On each of the occasions when the king of England, the king of Italy and prince of Roumania came to visit Paris, it rained. There never was a more beautiful day than that on which President Wilson was welcomed by the Parisians."

Miss Wilson left for France on a small French ship, the Espagne, in March, 1918. One day while going over Miss Wilson walked around the first class deck and counted fifteen people out of the 350 first-class passengers who were not seasick. Miss Wilson was one of the fifteen. She landed in Bordeaux, France, and was sent by the Red Cross to Paris. When she arrived there the German 75-mile range cannon was then shelling the capital city. She went from Paris to the "Seine-et-Marne" sector in France, where she aided in assembling and receiving the French refugees who were driven back from the German border. There was the most strict censorship of all refugees. "There was nothing put over on us," said Miss Wilson, "everyone was put through the most strenuous examination and even their old, worn gunny sacks were inspected."

From this sector Miss Wilson was sent to Moulins, a French city in the country from which the Bourbon French kings were chosen. This city was notable for three reasons. It held a large prison, one of the largest munition factories in France was in operation there, and because of its history; owing to the Bourbon family. The man who would have become ruler of France had the country held its royalty died in Moulins in the winter of 1918 while Miss Wilson was there working in a hospital. In this city were forty large hospitals all given over to the care of the wounded allied soldiers. Miss Wilson was the American intermediary for all English men in the hospital. Out of the more than 1,000 nurses Miss Wilson only knew one who could converse with her in English.

From Moulins Miss Wilson was sent to the front line trenches, where she served hot coffee, chocolate and dough nuts to the boys. While in this sector Miss Wilson witnessed many air raids over Toul, a small city near J. "These raids did little damage," said Miss Wilson, "they were a big scare but nothing more."

The Greencastle Red Cross worker was then called to Paris, where she acted as postmaster in Red Cross post office.

The postmaster had become ill of pneumonia and as Miss Wilson had become acquainted with him on her trip to France he turned over his position to her. Later she was sent to Germany to secure better postal service to the American boys in the land of occupation.

Miss Wilson before she returned to America on June 1, 1919, on the second and largest ship afloat, the Imperator, visited Italy and nearly all of the devastated country of France.

Miss Wilson will return to Brooklyn September 1 for the opening of school.

BODY OF APOPLEXY VICTIM TAKEN TO ARCOLA, ILL.

The body of Mrs. A. B. Baker, who fell with a stroke of apoplexy and died a few minutes afterward in the Limestone Monon station near 3 o'clock Friday afternoon was taken to her home in Arcola, Ill., today. Mr. Baker, who was with her, because of the shock of his wife's death is seriously ill, but was able to go to his home. Mr. and Mrs. Baker were on their way to French Lick springs, where Mr. Baker was to take several weeks' treatment for his health. They were at Limestone, having stepped from a Vandalia train, and Mrs. Baker had just reached the station, door when she fell. They were waiting for the evening south-bound Monon train. A son-in-law from Arcola came to Limestone Friday night and took charge of the body. Mr. and Mrs. Baker had neither relatives nor friends in Greencastle.

Several farmers motoring to Greencastle today failed to observe the traffic rules and an accident came near happening on East Washington street as a result.

COMMUNITY CHAUTAUQUA AT CLOVERDALE

The Saturday evening program will be given by Rudolph's Swiss Entertainers, who appear in their native costumes in a series of remarkable folk songs, warbling songs and instrumental selections. It is like taking a flying trip to the mountain land of chalets to hear this talented group of native Swiss musicians.

The lecturer will be Dr. Cyrus Nussbaum, who will lecture on "Our Town and Our Nation." Worth hearing.

There will also be a beautiful pageant given by the children of Cloverdale.

Don't fail to attend the Cloverdale Chautauqua tonight. Pageant at 8 o'clock. Regular program at 8:30.

COMMUNITY CHAUTAUQUA AT CLOVERDALE

The Cloverdale Chautauqua will close on Sunday with a double program given by Bland's All-American Orchestra. This unusual musical organization is really one of the stellar attractions of the week. Its program runs the whole gamut of music from jazz to grand opera and back again, and its many specialty numbers, solos, duets, trios, quartettes and sextettes in unusual combinations of instruments makes its program one of unending novelty and enduring appeal. You will miss a musical treat if you fail to hear Bland's All-American Orchestra.

Afternoon program, 2:30; evening program, 8:30.

7,000 OFFICERS AND MEN TO REMAIN IN GERMANY

Washington August 23.—American forces which will remain in Germany after September 30 are the 8th infantry, 7th machine gun battalion, 2nd battalion of the 6th field artillery, 35th field signal battalion, 1st supply train, 1st mobile ordnance repair shop, Company A of the first engineers, field hospital No. 13 and ambulance company No. 26. This was announced today by the war department. The aggregate strength of these units will be nearly 7,000 officers and men. The infantry regiment comprises 3,800, the machine gun battalion 775, the artillery 750 and the engineers 250, giving a total combatant strength of 5,500.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

Shirley D. Greenlee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Greenlee and Lawrence Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Garrett of this city. Henry Emmert, of Crawfordsville, and Clara Marshall of Crawfordsville.

Richard Mills, who is in Greencastle visiting Hadley Cammack, has the honor of having attended the French college at Bordeaux for four months while stationed in France. Mills was thirteen months in France. After the armistice had been signed many soldiers were given tuition by the United States government in French colleges.

SCOUR BORDER IN SEARCH OF MISSING FLIERS

SEARCH FOR AVIATORS CONTINUES ALONG THE SOUTHERN PART OF MEXICAN BORDER—TELEPHONE SERVICE AND CARRIER PIGEONS BEING USED.

20 MACHINES ARE READY

San Diego, Cal., August 23.—American aviators and troopers, aided by Mexican troops, searched in vain today for Lieuts. F. B. Waterhouse and C. H. Connelly, army aviators, who were last seen on Wednesday, when they left Yuma, Ariz., on a return trip to Rockwell Field, near here. They were on border patrol duty.

The search is being made over a strip of land extending southward from the Mexican border and reaching approximately 130 miles across from the Pacific Ocean to the Gulf of California. A high mountain range bisects it north and south. All the country is wild, extremely rugged, sparsely inhabited and much of it is heavily timbered.

The airplanes from Rockwell Field covered the Pacific side of the Mexican territory and other patrols worked out of Calexico on the eastern side of the mountains. Radio telephone and telegraph services were used in the search and were augmented by carrier pigeons.

ARMENIANS NEED HELP CARPENTER

W. E. CARPENTER, OF BRAZIL, WILL SPEAK AT THE UNION CHURCH SERVICE SUNDAY EVENING AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH—SPEAKS FROM PERSONAL OBSERVATION—MILLIONS DYING IN ARMENIA.

DR. GOBIN ITO PRESIDE

W. E. Carpenter, of Brazil, will address the Greencastle people and folks of Putnam county Sunday evening beginning at 7:30 o'clock in the union church meetings of this city at the Christian church. Mr. Carpenter will speak on "Armenia—Her Trials and Hopes." Mr. Carpenter is well versed on this topic, as he recently returned from Armenia and Syria, where he has been observing the conditions of these European countries. Mr. Carpenter brought home a story of sorrow and desolation in Armenia. Millions of men and women and little children are starving for want of food and are dying because of lack of proper treatment. Mr. Carpenter has pleaded wherever he spoke for the hasty relief of the people and states that the Armenians are looking to America for help. "Will America extend her helping hand?" is the plea made by the coming speaker at the union meeting. Special music will be provided by William Conklin, Dr. Hilary H. Gobin, chairman of the Armenian relief in this county, will preside at the meeting.

POLITICAL GOSSIP FROM WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., August 23.—Failure of the Republican Congress to enact any legislation providing substantial aid for discharged soldiers was the subject of criticism by Representative Scott Ferris of Oklahoma, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee and ranking Democratic member of the House Committee on Public Lands, in a statement made today.

Mr. Ferris was particularly critical of the so-called Mondell bill because, as it is now drawn, in his opinion, it will provide aid for only a comparatively small number of service men, only those willing to enter into the colonization scheme the Mondell measure is intended to foster, and thus makes no provision for soldiers in States where such colonization is not feasible to acquire a home or farm.

An alternative plan should be included in the bill in the opinion of minority members of the committee, so that every soldier who needs or desires governmental aid in acquiring a home may obtain it.

"The American people at the November election entrusted the Republican party with full control of both branches of Congress. They have been in session for three months. They have signally failed to pass any legislation beneficial to the four million discharged soldiers," said Mr. Ferris, who was chairman of the public lands committee in the last House.

"The House public lands committee has had hearings on the Mondell bill and has reported it to the House. The bill in its present form is not sufficiently wide in scope to benefit the major portion of the soldiers deserving relief.

"The bill should contain a provision that all money appropriated for homes for soldiers should be equitably apportioned among the States according to the number of soldiers making application and desirous of availing themselves of a home under it. The bill as it now stands does not do this.

"The Mondell bill as it now stands is a soldiers' colonization bill. My contention is that in states that are well settled, with roads, school houses, churches, towns, rural routes, and all modern facilities the proposed plan is not at all feasible, and will be disappointing to the administrative officers as well as those who are to profit under it.

"An alternative plan should certainly be added to the bill, authorizing the Secretary of the Interior, when the soldier plan is not feasible in any given state, or in a given section of the country, to make loans direct to individual former service men who desire to purchase homes in communities where they may wish to locate. This, of course, would add to the difficulties of administration; it would widen the scope of the bill, but it would make it at all times perfectly certain that there was some relief to be offered the soldier who was unwilling to go out to the sparsely settled lands of the South that he might have within reach some relief in the acquisition of a home."

Democratic members of the committee contend that without this alternative disappointment will result. Representative Ferris pointed out that in sections of the country where land ranges in price from $50 to $250 per acre, plus the charges of administration which the soldier will have to pay, the colonization plan will not be a success.

"It is not feasible," said Mr. Ferris and the soldier will grow heart-sick over the fact that relief is being granted to a few and denied to the many. I am not leaning on my own judgment in making these suggested amendments. They are already firmly entrenched in the minds of leaders in the House of Representatives and in the minds of the soldiers as well.

"Secretary Lane has worked in season and out to get some legislation that would enable the country to do for the soldiers of this country what other countries are doing for theirs, and as I converse with soldiers on the subject and study the plan more and more I feel perfectly sure the Mondell bill will first not be acceptable to the soldier, will not as it stands be acceptable to the House, and will if enacted benefit but few and leave the very great majority without any relief, without any help or recognition of their services.

"Yet I am hopeful that the good things in this bill may be preserved where susceptible of operation, but at the same time I am doubly anxious that proper amendments be added to make it acceptable and of sufficient scope to assure some affirmative assistance and recognition to the soldiers who served their country during the time of greatest stress.

"I want to make it perfectly clear that the Mondell bill is not without virtue, and doubtless will be of great value to the soldiers in certain sections of the country. But my fear is that it will not take care of a sufficiently large number of soldiers to really make it a soldiers' bill at all, and also it is not sufficiently wide in scope to do justice to all the soldiers in all the States."

Raising Skunks for Fur.

As wild fur-bearing animals have decreased in numbers and the scarcity and prices of furs consequently increased, many individuals have been led to undertake the rearing of fur bearers in captivity, as for example the efforts to breed foxes in Canada and parts of the United States, and the widespread interest in skunk raising. It is of significance that in one state alone the game warden, within a period of two years, issued more than fifty permits for breeding skunks in captivity.—Robert K. Nabours in the National Geographic Magazine.

Energy From Common Powder.

Common black sporting powder is a source of momentary energy in some railway machine shops and is used for such purposes as loosening nuts and bolts, breaking up scrap iron and steel, forcing a rusted locomotive piston, and breaking metal cooled in a furnace. It is employed in steel guns 5 to 12 inches long and of proportionate diameter. The powder is held by a plunger without end, and it is fired with the mouth of the gun about an inch from the work. An ounce charge is the average required for an ordinary locomotive nut or bolt.

F. C. Yeager has sold Hazelwood Christian church and Alfred Cooper Ben Hur lighting systems. 1t.pd

HAD BILIOUS ATTACKS.

"Some time ago I had indigestion and frequent bilious attacks. I procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets and was greatly surprised by the quick benefit I received from a few doses of them. One bottle cured me, as I have not had any return of them," writes Mrs. Ella Wright, Chillicothe, Mo. If you have any trouble with your digestion give these tablets a trial. They will do you good.—Adv.

LADIES.

When irregular or delayed use of Triumph Pills. Safe and always dependable. Not sold at drug stores. Do not experiment with others, save disappointment. Write for "Relief" and particulars. It's free. Address National Medical Institute, Milwaukee, Wis.—Adv.

STOMACH TROUBLE.

There are many who should be greatly encouraged to know that stomach troubles can be cured. Mrs. T. E. Hullinger, Mansfield, O., was sick for three months with stomach trouble and constipation. She saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and decided to try them. Let her tell it. "The first dose did me more good than all of the medicine I had previously taken and by taking two bottles of the tablets I was positively cured." LOCUST STREET M. E. CHURCH.

Greencastle, Ind.

IDEAL COUNTRY OF DELIGHT

Isle of Utilia Seems to Have Been Appropriately Designated "Lazy Man's Paradise."

Worth while seems life on the Isle of Utilia. Its place on the map would be hard to find, but it's worth discovering. Away off in the Southern sea, never heard from before and but little known, it comes to the knowledge of the Pan-American union that here have Americans found a home that others enjoy when they are dead. "We call it a lazy man's paradise," says the message from this land of delight, "not that the inhabitants are necessarily indolent, but simply because a large amount of labor is superfluous. Nature provides for nearly all our wants here as in most tropical countries. Farming is our principal occupation, yet there is not a plow on the island. Frost is unknown and extreme heat is never experienced. Ninety degrees in the shade would be an unusually high temperature. Our grade schools are of high standard, attendance being compulsory ten months in the year. American text books exclusively are used and social life could not be distinguished from that of the United States. Utilia is one of the Bay Islands, a string of six verdant keys in the bay of Honduras, an arm of the Caribbean sea, which was discovered by Columbus in 1502. They were then thickly populated by native Indians, who became slaves. The islands now are inhabited wholly by English-speaking people. The first family to settle there was that of Joseph Cooper, who found upon landing two lonely American young men, Samuel and Joshua Warren by name. A few years later came Mark G. Morgan, an American from Philadelphia. The descendants of these men now inhabit the islands. These pioneers were the Puritan stock, all seafarers imbued with the spirit of adventure, who though filled with wanderlust, found conditions on the island so ideal that they planted their stakes deep and said: "Alabama—here we res." Of the principal exports, 110,000,000 coconuts are sent yearly to the United States. There are fourteen Methodist churches and six of the Seventh Day Adventists on the islands with more than 700 members and 300 children to their Sunday schools.—Ohio State Journal.

Education Via the "Movies." Moving pictures offer such advantages for many educational purposes that it seems quite in order to expect entire text books to be replaced by reels of film. In a recent London exhibition Maj. E. D. Maddick of the Royal College of Surgeons showed a human skeleton slowly turning before the audience, and gradually disintegrating, dropping bone after bone until reduced to the spinal column alone. Rebuilding followed. One by one the bones were reassembled until the structure was again complete, and in this way the various elements of the human anatomy were so brought to notice as to give a lasting impression of their peculiar features and their relation to the whole. It is suggested that the series of views may be so extended as to include movements of limbs and joints in both health and disease. The record value of the pictures has been already recognized, and they will doubtless be instruments of increasing usefulness to surgeon, investigator and teacher.

Stoves of an Age Gone By. Somebody interested in antiquities has asked in print whether soapstone stoves are now purchasable, and although the question will puzzle most of those who read it even to know what such a stove looks like, it will remind others, of an older generation, that the soapstone stove has not so very long vanished. People used such stoves, and burnt wood in them, no longer ago than the time when mansard roofs were admired; and as some mansard roofs still remain in American cities so, doubtless, do some soapstone stoves. Most of them, however, are gone, like the earlier cast-iron stoves that had neither door nor stove pipe, but backed up against a fireplace in the next room and both took in fuel and sent out smoke through a hole into the fireplace. In fact, it would take a sizable book to describe and picture the family tree of the modern kitchen stove and basement furnace.—Christian Science Monitor.

New Heat-Resisting Stone. The heat-resisting building stone of Charles Ingvaldsen, a Norwegian, is made by mixing ground mica with just enough clay or like binder to form a coherent mass. The mixture may be shaped into blocks, plates or other forms of any size, and is fired at a temperature just high enough to fuse the mica. The stone has essentially the same properties as natural mica. For withstanding very high temperatures, equal parts of mica and quartz are used with the binder, and this mixture is fired at a heat sufficient to fuse the quartz. This stone is claimed to be not only a very refractory and durable material but to offer other desirable qualities, such as effective electric insulation.

Violent Deaths in India. Snake bites caused 23,918 deaths in British India in 1917, nearly 300 more than in 1916. There were 2,170 persons killed by wild animals, 102 less than in 1915. Tigers got 1,000; leopards, 239; wolves and bears, 280; elephants and hyenas, 80. Of the 456 set down to "other animals," 89 are assigned to pigs and 100 to crocodiles.

IS UNKNOWN LAND

Much of South American Continent Unexplored.

Room There, and Natural Resources, to Furnish Living for Millions Now in Overcrowded Parts of the Globe.

The undiscovered continent is South America. It is far less known geographically than Africa, and much of what appears on its maps is derived from the imagination of the cartographer.

Most of the interior of South America has never been explored. Civilization might be said to occupy not much more than the edges of the continent, which, as a whole, is sparsely populated relatively to its vast area.

From this time on, however, a flood of people from overcrowded parts of the world will doubtless pour into it; for it has not only plenty of room to offer, but also fabulous wealth. The natural resources of other terrestrial areas have been to a great extent used up, but those of South America are virtually untouched.

Its tropical regions no longer defy settlement by white men, because of deadly fevers. We now know how to clean them up and make them healthfully habitable. The jungles of the interior harbor many tribes of savages, some of them reputed cannibals, but those of them who do not accept control will be quickly wiped out.

The most highly developed country in South America is Argentina. Its heart (meaning the state of Buenos Aires and adjacent territory) is a good deal like our own Kansas plains—grassy and treeless. Farther to the west and northwest is a region resembling Arizona. Still farther, along the foothills of the Andes is a very rich agricultural belt, much like southern California.

The River Plate affords a more extensive system of unobstructed navigation than any other stream in the world. It offers a greater number of miles of navigable water than all the rivers of Europe combined. Steamers of 20-foot draft can go 2,700 miles into the interior, those loading for Europe being able literally to enter the wheat fields and ranches to take aboard their cargoes.

From the Rio Negro south to Magellan straits stretches an enormous territory—1,000 miles in length—called Patagonia, the interior of which is mostly unexplored desert. Wandering tribes, semi-civilized, inhabit it—the tallest people in the world, whose stature (the men often exceeding six feet by several inches) caused Magellan to describe the country as the home of giants.

South of Magellan straits is Tierra del Fuego, a triangular island nearly as large as New York state. Though in a frigid latitude, the interior is now largely fenced off into great sheep ranches. The aborigines—whose smoke signals caused Magellan to bestow the name Land of Fire—have been either killed or reduced to servitude.

Paraguay (not far from the middle of the continent) has the most valuable forests in the world, called the Gran-Chaco, or Great Woods. Full of pumas and other huge cats, monkeys of ever so many species and gorgeous birds, they are composed largely of precious woods, particularly those that will not float in water, such as ironwood and black palm.

In the very far north of South America is the Orinoco, one of the great rivers of the world. From it there are waterways through which vessels can actually make their way nearly 3,000 miles southward into the River Plate. Or a much shorter trip will take them into one or another of the affluents of the Amazon, in the mouth of which lies an island as large as Denmark.

South America today invites the enterprising young man as does no other part of the world. But he will make a mistake to go there unless he has some money and enough Spanish to get along with.

French Study of War History. Visitors in Paris have a new place of interest in the opening of the Bibliotheque et Musée de la Guerre. The new war library and museum had its inception in a realization of the importance of beginning as soon as possible a collection of historic material. Although one purpose is to provide a permanent exhibition for the benefit of the general public, another is the accumulation of material from which the history of the war may be written.

It is now known that, early in the war, Germany began plans to attract the historians of the future to Berlin in order that they should do their work in an atmosphere sympathetic to Germany. The course of events, however, has been such as to make the cautious historian distrustful of German documentary evidence, and much history will doubtless be written in the new French institution.

Money and Advice. "I have called to borrow some money."

"I cannot lend you money but I'll give you some good advice."

"That won't do. I want to borrow money from you so I can go out and pay a lawyer for some real advice."

Early Training.

"Why have you never married, Mr. Tompkins?"

"I suppose it's because I took the bachelor's degree while at college."

FROM DAVY JONES

Inventor Is Confident He Can Wrest Riches.

Simon Lake Is Man Who Claims He Has Devised Perfect Salvaging Submarine—Will Seek Gold Long Under Water.

With the waters of the Atlantic ocean swashing over his head, Simon Lake, submarine inventor, expects to excavate the bottom of Long Island sound, off Port Morris, N. Y., and try to salvage $5,000,000 gold bullion from the treasure chests of the H. M. S. Huzzar. The treasure has nestled on the bottom for 119 years.

If Lake desires, he says, he will be able to smoke a cigar, sing a song and twang a ukulele on the bottom of the ocean while the treasure is being recovered with a new salvaging submarine machine which he has just perfected.

The story of the Huzzar and its buried gold is as romantic as any sea yarn ever spun by Jules Verne or Robert Louis Stevenson. It begins at a date when pirates roved the Atlantic, and promises to end with a submarine climax.

Chapter 1 shows the British warship Huzzar, launched about the year 1790, to the pop of a wine bottle. From this point the story carries the wind-jammer through the adventures times when Captain Kidd might be found at any time hiding behind the next wave, and narrates her exploits as a utility vessel in the British navy.

The last trip of the proud Huzzar was when she started to the American colonies in 1780, carrying a cargo of golden wealth in her hold. In making the waters of the harbor, at a time when Hell Gate was not adequately charted, she struck a rock and stove a hole in her bottom. She tried to make shore, but didn't, and sank off Port Morris. The treasure, which was to have paid off the soldiers of the crown, sank with her.

Thirty years ago a company was organized on Staten Island to attempt the salvage of the Huzzar gold. The most accomplished diver of the day spent much time in the water. He succeeded in bringing up a hard oak rib of the ship and a few coins of little value, and then was forced to give up his efforts. The experiment cost the salvage company $20,000.

The oaken rib of the good ship Huzzar was worm-eaten, but it was sawed diagonally, and just enough good wood was recovered to make two canes. One of these canes is now in the possession of C. F. Lester of Brooklyn.

Just when Simon Lake will begin operations to salvage the Huzzar gold has not been made public.

Millions of Miles of Desert.

The great Sahara desert covers the major part of northern Africa, consisting of 2,500,000 square miles—an arid region as large as the whole of Europe. From 100 feet below sea level it rises in one instance to 8,000 feet above, and some of its elevations are covered with snow for three months of the year. Most of it, however, is a dry, sandy waste, dotted here and there with an oasis where drink may be secured. The winds are all very hot and dry, while rain is almost unknown.

The ostrich, camel, jackal, horned viper and numerous lizards are the principal animals of the region. Several varieties of hardy birds are also found. Arabs, Moors, Jews and negroes jostle each other on the caravan routes and the fierce-looking Arabs who bring their produce to the Egyptian markets are probably robbers and cutthroats in their desert home.

It is impossible for travelers to get off the road, as the caravan routes are bordered with the bones of countless camels which have fallen by the wayside during the thousands of years these trails have been traveled.

Hotel's Famous "Royal Suite."

On the wall of the so-called "royal suite" in the old Revere house, Boston, Mass., hung a decorated shield bearing the names of distinguished guests: Jenny Lind, 1850; Daniel Webster, 1850; prince of Wales, 1860; Patti, 1860; Parepa, 1865; Christine Nilsson, 1870; Grand Duke Alexis, 1871; King Kalakaua, 1875 and Emperor Dom Pedro, 1876. But, even if the hotel had remained in operation, the present prince of Wales, coming to Boston, would hardly have gone there for his temporary dwelling place. For a good many years the old hotel has stood as a survival, in a part of the city where distinguished travelers were no longer among the common sights; and now it goes out of business. But, in its time, it was proud of that "royal suite."

Centuries-Old Images Found.

Investigations by the Mexican government to find out who built the great pyramids at San Juan Teotihuacan, 27 miles from Mexico City, have brought to light two great granite heads of the ancient Mexican god of the air, Quetzalcoatl.

These heads are almost perfect specimens, bearing all the symbolic markings. The long-disputed point as to who erected the pyramids is, as yet, unsolved. These huge mounds, one to the sun and the other to the moon, the former being 701 by 721 feet at the base and 216 feet high, are generally attributed to a tribe that preceded the Toltecs, probably, dating from about the sixth century.

HUN FEELING IS UNCHANGED

German Clergy Still Talk of Day of Triumph in Store for the Fatherland.

The Glasgow Herald prints from a special correspondent some interesting information regarding the views of the German churches on the peace treaty.

What, asked the writer, in the guidance offered by the churches at this crisis in the affairs of the nation? We are in no doubt as to its character. In the Kreuz Zeitung recently Doctor Conrad, one of the ex-kaiser's chaplains, wrote a homily on the attitude which religious men should adopt toward the peace which is being "dictated to Germany." He wrote: "Possess your souls and do not despair. God in his good time will turn our sorrows into joy. Is there a German man with the fear of God in his heart who does not realize that this humiliation is but for a time and that before long the drama of the new fashioning of the earth will begin again? When that time comes Germany will rise supreme from the fire of her trials. It was in 1870-71 that began it; that was the prelude; we are now at the close of the second act. The coming third act will give us our final place and God will be with us. All I can counsel is this: Be patient. Our hour is coming. Certainly, sign the peace, for this will give us the breathing time we require and also time for reflection."

In the Kirchen Anzeiger there is a sermon by Stadt-Pfarrer Brockhaus, headed "What Is Now Our Duty?" The preacher after denouncing "the cruel and incredible terms" of the treaty, goes on: "There is a revenge which is holy and emboldens all those who nourish it in their hearts. We cannot sit down under the awful humiliation. But we must wait God's time. We must wait for him to dictate our course. He who led the German people from weakness to strength, he who once blessed our efforts in our world mission is punishing us now for our sins, but he has great work for us yet and he will see that we yet stand on the necks of our adversaries." All through these sermons dealing with the peace and the present situation generally the German clergy continuously exhort their flocks to be patient, to be steadfast during the days of tribulation. In a perfunctory sort of way they acknowledge that tribulation has come upon the people because of their sins and shortcomings, but the sins and shortcomings have nothing to do with the guilt of causing the war or with the innumerable crimes committed by Germany in the four years of its duration.

Amethyst Once Highly Prized.

On account of its fine color, play of light and capacity for polish, the amethyst once held a high rank as a decorative stone, perhaps next to the sapphire, but by reason of the discovery of large quantities in Brazil its popularity declined in Europe and consequently its commercial value declined in corresponding ratio.

Of all the quartz varieties the amethyst has been the most highly valued, and the most frequently used for the art of engraving. The deep shades are less brilliant and for this reason the artists of antiquity preferred the lighter shades. Consequently the ancient intagli occur almost invariably on the light-colored specimens so that engravings on the dark shade may be suspected as modern.

But some of the specimens of Egyptian, Etruscan and Roman engraving on amethysts are extant, among which may be mentioned the gem bearing the likeness of the Emperor Trajan, captured by Napoleon when he conquered Prussia in 1806; a bust of Antonia, daughter of Mark Antony; the head of a Syrian king, which is or was in the Puskly collection, and a superb engraving of Dioscorides, now in the national library in Paris.

Natural Enemies of Mosquito.

Dr. L. O. Howard, chief of the United States bureau of entomology, writing on his favorite theme, the mosquito, in a recent bulletin reviews the subject of the natural enemies of this insect. Among fish, he mentions first the common goldfish and silverfish, which destroy mosquito larvae and should be put in artificial ponds. Top-minnows are great feeders on mosquito larvae, and certain species introduced from Texas and Hawaii have proved their value, while a small top-minnow of the genus Girardinus, known in Barbados as "millions," has been used successfully in other West Indian islands. Many predatory aquatic insects feed on mosquito larvae. Certain birds prey upon the adults, and bats also eat them. Many plants are popularly believed to keep away mosquitoes, among them being several species of eucalyptus, the castor oil plant, the chinaberry tree, etc. Scientific observations have not confirmed the popular idea on this subject.—Scientific American.

Swift Handling of Troops.

The Canadian national railways recently broke a speed record in the transportation of troops from one ship. The troopship Olympic docked at six o'clock in the evening, with 4,900 returned soldiers aboard. Eleven special trains were made up to take the soldiers to demobilization points inland. The first of these specials got under way at 7:45 o'clock. The other trains followed at average intervals of 18 minutes. Within three hours all the soldiers were on their way for the interior. The troops averaged 445 men to a train and it took 150 cars to handle them.

LOVE AND POETRY

Combination Long Prominent in Japanese Wooling.

Custom of Utagaki First Mentioned in Fifth Century, Though Believed to Be Much Older—Devoted to Verse Making.

One of the prettiest customs of old Japan that has survived the new order is the Utagaki, or gathering of Japanese young men and women in flower season to compose odes to the blossoms and to the moonbeams, forming friendships that often endure through life. It is first mentioned in the time of Emperor Yuryaku in the fifth century, although no doubt much older.

The Utagaki, or primitive form of wooling, according to which Utagaki was most fashionable, took place at Tsuwakinochi in Yamato, in the vicinity of Mount Utagaki. At these happy gatherings, if a man failed to win the heart of the lady he was bent on winning, the others made a laughing-stock of him and jeered him to indignation. Consequently, suitors were persevering in order to escape ridicule.

As the meeting came to order, if there was order, each of the participants selected a theme for the ode to be composed. After the composition was completed, the man recited his achievement to the company, and a lady was asked to rectify hers; and so it went, men and women reciting in turn, until all had done.

Those whose verses pleased the audience most were then commended for their efforts. The man whose verse won most approval was to have the lady whose verse was deemed best. At least it was easier for the ladies to like the men who were most expert in these odes, which created jealousy among those not so expert. The upshot of it all usually was that all finally mated before the festival was over.

This custom of Utagaki continued popular for centuries. Competition in poetry and love was considered a duty of emulation. One does not wonder that it frequently led to war.

As a rule the higher classes did not allow their daughters to go from home unattended; but the Utagaki was always considered an exception to the rule. Nor is it remarkable that we often read in the literature of this period such expressions as "fell in love at first sight," and so on. It was only natural; that in time, as civilization advanced, the custom of holding Utagaki should fall into disuse.

There is a belief in Japan that the custom of holding these poetic love-meetings is as old as the first emperor. It is said that an incident in the life of the imperial house gave rise to the custom of Utagaki. In those far-off days marriage, in 99 cases out of 100, took place by the exchanging of odes, which were expressions of love.—Japan Magazine.

Make 2,000 Ukeles a Month.

The ukulele, the Hawaiian musical instrument, which has attained considerable popularity in the United States the last year or two, was first produced by a Portuguese at Honolulu, and it at once made a hit with the natives. It is made chiefly from a native wood known as koa wood. The peculiar tone is obtained only when well-seasoned wood is used, properly prepared and fitted. In the islands the instruments sell at from $3.75 to $20 each, according to quality and decoration. In the past year the monthly production of instruments has trebled, that for September amounting to 1,800. A company was recently organized at Honolulu to manufacture 2,000 ukuleles a month; it is estimated that the total output in the coming year will be about 40,000.

Will Develop Island Property.

Evidently there is one man in England who is not seriously disturbed by the idea that the ownership of large estates will progressively give way to the division of land into small holdings; at any rate Lord Leverhulme has not hesitated to purchase Lewis island, which, next to Great Britain and Ireland, is the largest of the British Isles. Lewis island covers some 770 square miles, off the west coast of Scotland, and has a present population of about 30,000 people. This, however, it is said, the new owner regards as quite an inadequate population for his island, which he thinks should reasonably support 300,000. His idea is to make his property the center of the British fishing business, and he has already shown his ability on the Mersey.

A Peer as a Corporal.

Lord Crawford, chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster, whose principal house is Haigh hall, Wigan, has applied as "Corporal Crawford" for membership in the Wigton branch of the Comrades of the Great War. In the early days of the war he enlisted as a private in the Royal Army Medical corps, served in France as a private, and was later promoted to a corporal, which rank he still retains.—London Mail.

Killing a Nursery Rhyme.

Mother—And are you learning anything in your lessons in natural history in school, Ethel?

Ethel—I think I am, mamma. Mother—What have you learned?

Ethel—Well, it's taught me to think that it wasn't a cow that jumped over the moon at all; that it was a kangaroo.
